InfoCision honored with 2009 Pillar Award for Community Service

Akron, Ohio, November 12, 2009 – InfoCision Management Corporation's culture of giving back has earned the company its second Medical Mutual Pillar Award for Community Service presented by Smart Business Magazine.

InfoCision prides itself on making a difference in the lives of thousands of people every day, whether it's the work the company does for clients as a call center organization or as individuals. For example, InfoCision and its employees donated countless hours of volunteer service and over $400,000 to local charitable organizations in 2008, including the American Cancer Society and the American Heart Association. Employees participated in the Salvation Army Red Kettle Campaign and Angel Tree giving programs, and donated blood through the American Red Cross, among many other philanthropic endeavors. Additionally, InfoCision founder and Chairman of the Board, Gary Taylor and his wife Karen, contributed $10 million towards the building of The University of Akron's new football venue, InfoCision Stadium.

The Medical Mutual Pillar Award was developed to honor businesses that make Northeast Ohio a better place to live and demonstrate a connection between for-profit and nonprofit worlds. The award seeks to publicize the importance of community service issues, such as philanthropy and volunteerism and honor companies and individuals who go beyond minimum expectations of community service. The Pillar Award Banquet will be held on December 3 at LaCentre Conference & Banquet Facility in Westlake. Eleven total organizations, including InfoCision, will be honored.
